INFORMATIONAL BRIEFING

2017 Central Valley Flood Protection Plan Update
Linking Actions to Flood-Specific Outcomes

BRIEFING SUMMARY

Background

The 2017 Update to the Central Valley Flood Protection Plan (CVFPP) is a program-level plan for the next 30 years covering potential federal, State, and local actions associated with the State Plan of Flood Control (SPFC). California Department of Water Resources (DWR) is preparing the document by updating and refining information in the adopted 2012 CVFPP. Chapter 3 of the update will demonstrate how capital and ongoing actions included in the CVFPP can contribute to fourteen flood-specific outcomes, consistent with the primary and supporting goals of the CVFPP. These flood-specific outcomes link to CVFPP implementation topics that will be covered in Chapter 4, and financing and tracking of CVFPP outcomes that will be covered in Chapter 5 of the plan update.

Current Status

Development of the Administrative Draft 2017 CVFPP Update is underway. A first administrative draft of the update is scheduled to be available for CVFPB review in August, followed by a revised administrative draft for stakeholder review in October, and public draft for review in December 2016.
